

Arabian Horse Fine Artistry

Featuring KARINA PEACEMAKER

For as long as she can remember, Karina Peacemaker has been drawing horses. As a child, she taught herself to draw by filling reams of copier paper with sketches of horses, mostly Arabians.

Growing up on her family's farm, PCF Arabians, Karina experienced firsthand the appeal of the breed. She still plays an active role in the breeding, showing and management of the farm. Her close, daily interaction with Arabians is reflected in her artwork. On each and every canvas she strives to capture their beauty and charisma, while giving special attention to expression, movement and realism.

In 2005, at the age of 17, Karina began to experiment with oil painting. She now works predominately in oils but has experience in a variety of artistic media, such as pencil, pen & ink, watercolor, wood burn art, scratchboard and acrylics.

Karina Peacemaker’s artwork is internationally collected, with original paintings and prints residing worldwide. Several familiar names and shows in the Arabian horse industry, like Arabian Horse Global, Arabian Horse Futures, the Arabian U.S. Open and of course, PCF Arabians, commissioned their logo artwork from Karina.

A rare, non-equine drawing of Karina’s was awarded Adult Division Grand Champion in the 2009 Red Vines Drawing Contest and was printed inside many movie theater boxes of licorice across the United States.

Each year, with its inception in 2011, Karina has donated a painting to the Arabian Horse Association of Arizona for the Arabian National Breeder Finals Show. During the show, to date, her artwork has raised at auction well over $60,000 in prize money for the Arabian weanling classes held at this show. Karina’s paintings are also featured during the prestigious Scottsdale Arabian & Half-Arabian Horse Show as the official show poster and program cover since 2014.

In addition to painting freestyle, Karina enjoys equine portraiture. She loves the challenge of capturing not only the subject's likeness, but personality as well. Karina has created portraits of many highly acclaimed Arabian horses including: Magnum Chall HVP, Bey Ambition, Magnum Psyche and PCF Vision.

Karina believes there is no greater subject or inspiration for art than the magnificent Arabian horse.
